JOIN THE VANGUARD NETWORK

The Vanguard Network brings together homelessness practitioners, government leaders, people of lived experience, experts and researchers to exchange knowledge and evidence in an international community of practice. If you lead a homeless organization, work for a city, regional, or national government, have lived experience of homelessness, or represent a collaborative group working on homelessness, we invite you to join the network.

Throughout the world, there is a growing focus on ending homelessness in cities, at the national level, and with member states at the United Nations. Members of the Vanguard Network will be at the forefront of this movement sharing innovations, best practices, and challenges with a group of committed leaders and practitioners. Members will attend meetings bridging research to practice and knowledge exchanges. This sharing will build the evidence base of what works to end homelessness at local, national, and international levels and inform international advocacy and policy, including reports and meetings with UN-Habitat.

Vanguard Network Members Take Part in:

Global Exchanges Meetings:

- Knowledge Exchange Meetings and policy round table discussions on topics chosen by the Vanguard Cities
- Sharing of new research/evidence through meetings and trainings base led by homelessness researchers and experts
- Cohort calls focused on peer learning and sharing with attendees in a similar line of work, including calls with frontline workers, leadership, and government officials
- Vanguard City Summit, an annual convening and workshop for all IGH's Vanguard Cities
- Other relevant IGH meetings and webinars including the Community of Impact

Engagement with IGH and Network Partners:

- International events including United Nations forums
- IGH publications and case studies
- Participation at critical moments in IGH's advocacy campaigns
- Opportunities to provide insight to IGH and UN-Habitat's Global Homeless Data Initiative
